An Informative Discussion Of Provisions
Of The California State Retirement Life
Payments Plan On The Nov. 7 Ballot

(In this, the second installment of an article on the California State Retirement Life Payments Plan, Mr. Peirce concludes his reviews of the provisions of the proposed constitutional amendment which will be before the voters November 7, and makes some comments on some of the provisions of the proposed amendment.—Ed.)

By JOHN M. PEIRCE

Tax Counselor

California Taxpayers' Association

9. Administration
The act would be administered by an "administrator," at first appointed by the Governor from a list of two persons named in the measure, and, beginning in 1944, to be elected by the voters. He would receive a salary of $10,000 per year payable in warrants. He would appoint a chief deputy administrator, whose salary would also be $10,000 per year, and three assistant administrators with salaries of $9,000 per year, all payable in warrants. In case of resignation or death, the administrator would be succeeded by the chief deputy administrator. The office of administrator is to be non-partisan; the nominating petition filing fee for this office is to be $500. The administrator would be subject to recall.

The administrator would be strictly independent of the other branches of government. He would NOT be responsible to the Governor, the Legislature, or the State Courts, and, until the election of 1944, the voters have no control over him except by recall. Through his control of the bank, he and his three associates would control the issuance of warrants, the receipt of all money, and all other banking operations. Through his power of nomination, he could dominate the tax commission until the positions are eventually filled by the voters. The administrator would have the power to call special elections for the purpose of submitting proposed amendments to the voters.

The "Credit Clearing Bank" would be administered by a board of seven directors consisting of the administrator, two assistant administrators, the State Controller, and the controllers of the two largest counties in the State. The directors would serve without extra salary.

The gross income tax would be administered by a "Tax Commission" consisting of three members, first appointed by the Governor, upon nomination by the administrator, for staggered six-year terms and subsequently elected by the voters. They would receive salaries of $10,000 per year payable in cash. The rules and regulations of the tax commission would have the force of law and would carry such penalties as the commission deemed necessary.

A "State Board of Economics" consisting of thirty-four members, partly ex officio and partly appointed by industrial groups, is provided for. This board would act in an advisory capacity.

10. Constitutionality Clause
With respect to constitutionality of the plan, the act prohibits the courts interfering with the operation of the act. It also repeals any section of the State Constitution which is in conflict therewith. Finally, it provides that if any section or clause of the act is found to be unconstitutional (presumably refers to United States Constitution) the remainder of the act shall not be affected thereby.

11. Effective Date of Proposal
From the standpoint of setting up administrative machinery, the act becomes effective five days after passage. The first pension payments would be made twelve weeks after passage of the act.

COMMENTS ON THE PROPOSAL
Inasmuch as this proposed pension plan and monetary plan in its present form has never been tried or operated successfully, it is difficult to determine exactly just what might happen if the amendment were adopted by the voters of California next November. The plan would have to run the gamut of many possible obstacles, including (1) the United States Constitution; (2) the inability of the administrators to put the plan's administrative machinery into operation; (3) the unwillingness of business firms to accept the warrants in trade; (4) the disinclination of taxpayers to acquire and use warrants for tax-paying purposes; (5) the impossibility of converting warrants into cash for financing interstate commerce; (6) the possibility of skyrocketing price levels; and (7) the possible paralysis of governmental finances.

The following comments, therefore, embody a number of mathematical and other assumptions based partly on what could be expected if the plan operated as promised by the promoters and partly on what might happen if the plan failed.

1. Estimated Qualified Pensioners Approximately 1,000,000

The United States Census of 1930 indicated there were at that time 1,160,455 people in California over fifty years of age, or 20.4 per cent of the population. On January 1, 1939, the population of California was carefully estimated at 6,940,000, so that if the age distribution today is the same as it was in 1930, there would be approximately 1,416,000 people in California today who are over fifty years of age. Many of these would not be eligible for pensions because of personal choice, such as in the case of professional persons continuing their employment or because of lack of citizenship. On the assumption that two-thirds of the people over fifty would qualify and apply for pensions, roughly one million persons would receive retirement warrants. This number would be over seven times as great as the 135,000 now receiving old age pensions in California.

2. Annual Payments Would Probably Amount to $1,560,000

The cost of one million pensions at $30 a week at $1560 a year would be $1,560,000, to which must be added the cost of administration. In terms of real money, this figure is over twice the present cost of State and local government in California.

3. Cost of Proposed Plan Would Be Over Twenty-Eight Times That of California's Present Old Age Pension

California now provides a $35 per month cash pension to all qualified persons sixty-five years of age or over who have been in California for at least five years. Approximately 135,000 persons now receive this pension and the cost—Federal, State, and county contributions combined—is now about $55,000,000 a year. The cost of the proposed $30 Every Thursday pension would be, in terms of real money, $1,560,000,000 a year, all of which would rest on the shoulders of California citizens. This would make the cost over twenty-eight times as much as the present State old age pension system, which is already the ROME (UP)—Reports increased today that another Italian peace attempt will be made soon.

They apparently were based on: 1. Press dispatches indicating that Warsaw may fall within the next few days.

2. Belief in usually well informed circles that if an effort toward peace were made, it would come immediately following the fall of Warsaw.

3. Persistent reports during the last few days that Premier Benito Mussolini may make an important speech this weekend.

Such an effort, according to usually well informed circles, would be aimed at bringing Britain, France, Germany, and Italy to a four power conference.

Exactly how much an offer would be made has not yet been defined, although it was pointed out that Mussolini would seem the logical man to undertake it since he has been praised by both England and France for previous peace efforts.

Liner Bremen In Iceland

166 Killed, 9 Ships Sunk In 5 Days Of War On Shipping

By UNITED PRESS
The $20,000,000 North German Lloyd liner Bremen, richest potential war prize of the German merchant fleet, was reported on good authority today to have reached the safety of an Icelandic port.

A capitulation showed that in five days of war, nine ships have been sunk and 166 persons from their crews and manifests are believed lost in the war with Great Britain and Germany on one another's shipping.

The whereabouts of the Bremen had been a mystery since she left New York August 30 without passengers, cargo or mail, in response to orders from Berlin to get home quickly. She had been detained two days in New York, over the angry protests of her operators, while customs men searched her for guns or contraband. The day she left, two British destroyers had been reported lurking off the New York coast. That was three days before Britain declared war, but not enough for the Bremen to have reached home before the British fleet blockaded the Baltic.

Fjords near Reykjavik make excellent harbors for ships the size of the Bremen and it was believed she would be safe because Iceland, like Denmark, with which she is united, is traditionally neutral during European wars.

Game Wardens Report On Recent Arrest Of Five Violators In County

Five recent convictions of game law violations in the county were reported Friday morning by Game Warden Al Sears who said that the arrests were the result of investigations by Captain A. H. Willard and himself.

The five convictions included three violations of the law regulating dove hunting, and two violations of the law relative to deer hunting. The doves cases were before Justice of the Peace W. G. Taylor, at Shingle, and the deer cases were before Justice of the Peace J. W. Landis, at Diamond Springs.

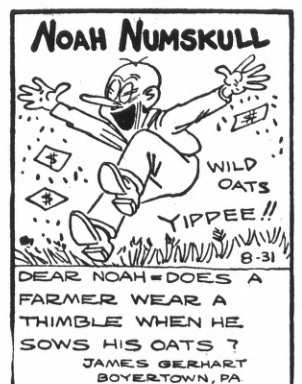

Sears also reported that Frank Corman is awaiting trial before Justice of the Peace Tony Lemos, at Cool, following his arrest some time ago on deer law violation charges.

In the dove law cases, Al D. Standiford, J. K. Anderson and Orest Scagoline, all of Sacramento, were fined $25 each by Justice of the Peace Taylor when they were found guilty of shooting for doves before seven o'clock in the morning.

In the deer law cases, Floyd Tyler was given a $25 fine suspended on a charge of possession of venison, and Buran Spears was fined $60 for taking deer out of season, in hearings before Justice of the Peace Landis.

Virtually all schools of the county will be in session by Monday morning, the Superintendent said.

High school, Penobscot, Ringgold, United, Diamond Springs, Uniontown, Spanish Dry Diggings, Gold Hill, Bridgeport, Camino, Oak Hill, Nashville and Blair districts began their work this week, either on Monday or Tuesday.

It was announced at the high school Friday morning that one additional registration had raised a senior, raising the total in that class to 111. There are 122 juniors, 166 sophomores and 174 freshmen. Principal J. H. Palmer, of Placerville Grammar School, said the district expects an enrollment of about 400 pupils.

Native Sons, Daughters Celebrate At S. F., Bank's Day At Fair

Admission Day is a state holiday in Placerville and the principal offices and places of business will be closed for the day.

Native Sons and Daughters of the Golden West will hold a state-wide observance of the 89th anniversary of California's statehood at San Francisco, with a parade during the morning. In the afternoon they will adjourn to the world's fair site at Treasure Island, where the special program of the day will be continued.

Henry S. Lyon, grand first vice-president of the Native Sons, accompanied by his daughter, Evelyn, left Friday morning for San Francisco to attend the doings. Justice of the Peace and Mrs. T. F. Lewis were planning to leave Friday afternoon, and there were reports that additional Native Sons and Daughters of the county would go to the Bay City for Admission day.

In addition, the day is the occasion for a state-wide meeting of the employees of the Bank of America, to be held at Treasure Island, and some 5,000 of the 8,700-odd employees are expected to be present. E. Ogden Hook, manager of the Placerville Branch of the company said that between ten and fifteen members of the bank's "family" in Placerville, including advisory board members, will attend the meeting.

B. J. Jones, former county farm advisor, was a visitor in the county Thursday and Friday and with Farm Advisor Ivan Lilley was calling on farmers in various parts of the county in connection with demonstration crops for pasture grasses.

ARMY, NAVY TO BE RECRUITED

U. S. Defenses And National Economy On Peace-Time Basis

WASHINGTON, (UP)—President Roosevelt today proclaimed a state of limited national emergency.

The action was taken to strengthen United States neutrality in the European war and to bolster national defenses within the limits of peace time authorizations.

Mr. Roosevelt declared that he was acting under his emergency powers which repose in a number of statutes. He did not specify the exact laws under which his proclamation was issued.

The President will follow the proclamation within the next few hours by executive orders by virtue of authority granted in the proclamation.

These will:

1. Make increases in army manpower within the authorized peace strength by recruiting and calling back first line reserves.
2. Make similar man power increases in navy strength within peace time authorizations.
3. Provide increases in marine corps personnel within peace time authorizations.
4. Provide government investigative agencies with broader powers to combat propaganda subversive to the U. S. form of government and to prevent episodes such as occurred in 1914 and 1915 before America entered the world war.

It was made clear that the proclamation was issued under the act of March 16, 1917, known as the Espionage Act.

Roosevelt Bans Profiteering

An Actual Surplus Of Foods Is Reported To Press Conference

WASHINGTON, (UP)—Mr. Roosevelt today assured the public that there will be no repetition of wartime food profiteering such as that which boomed the cost of living in 1917 and 1918.

He said that although the prices of foodstuffs may be on the rise these prices will not go through the roof.

Mr. Roosevelt said that there is no conceivable possibility of an actual shortage of foodstuffs in this country.

He said that the government must do its best to prevent the people from becoming excited about a situation which does not exist.

The real fact of the food situation, Mr. Roosevelt said at his press conference, is that there is an actual surplus of all food stuffs and there is no conceivable shortage of essential commodities.

"KEEP THE FAMILY FRUIT BOWL FILLED," SLOGAN FOR PEAR BUREAU IN NEW SERIES OF PICTURES WITH RECIPES

Twenty-five colored slides of table settings and dishes using fall and winter pears as the basis have just been made in the office of the Oregon-Washington-California Pear Bureau in Seattle.

Miss Florence Montgomery, home economist and publicity director of the pear bureau, assisted by Mrs. William Alexander (formerly dietitian at the office of the pear bureau's advertising agency) prepared the table settings and dishes, Joe Yolo of Yakima, who made the new pear bureau moving picture, photographed the settings.

The slides are to be used by the corps of field men which the pear bureau has employed, who will begin their work this month. These slides will be a colorful addition to the road show, which is the axis of the pear bureau's new program; also, the slides will be used for home economists and club women's meetings.

One of the slides depicts a Myrtlewood bowl (from Oregon) filled with fruit—apples, oranges, bananas, grapes, with pears predominating. This is in line with one of the pear bureau's new slogans—"Keep the family fruit bowl filled."

A tie-in was made with ham in a shot showing a platter containing a baked ham surrounded with pear halves filled with red berries, making a colorful picture. A ham manufacturer has assured the pear bureau of cooperation in pushing pears with him in his own advertising.

Hezekiah: A King Who Remembered God

HIGHLIGHTS ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for Sept. 10 is II Chronicles, 30, the Golden Text being Psalm 80:3. "Turn us again, O God; and cause Thy face to shine, and we shall be saved.")

THE LAST king whose life we studied was Uzziah, a king who forgot God in his pride, and so came to grief. Today we learn about Hezekiah, grandson of Uzziah, son of Ahaz. Ahaz, too, was a wicked king.

Hezekiah was only 25 years old when he came to the throne of Judah, and the first thing he did was to order the temple at Jerusalem cleaned thoroughly. All the filth that had accumulated was thrown out and all made clean, and the doors were repaired. He brought in the priests and Levites and said to them: "Sanctify yourselves now and sanctify the house of the Lord God of your fathers. . . . For our fathers have trespassed and done that which was evil in the eyes of the Lord our God, and have turned away their faces from the habitation of the Lord, and also turned their backs. . . . Wherefore the wrath of the Lord was upon Judah and Jerusalem, and He hath delivered them to trouble."

So the priests and Levites sanctified themselves and they sanctified the temple, too, in eight days.

Then Hezekiah declared that at a certain time they would hold the Feast of the Passover, and he had letters written to all parts of Judah and Israel, asking the people to come to Jerusalem for the Passover. Many in far-away places scoffed and would not go to the feast, but a great company arrived. And when they had come they "took away the altars that were in Jerusalem (the heathen altars) and all the altars for incense, and cast them into the brook Kidron."

Israelites Make Confession
Then they killed the Passover and kept the feast of unleavened bread for seven days, "offering peace offerings, and making confession to the Lord God of their fathers."

The king and the princes gave them many bullocks and sheep to kill for the feast, and for seven more days they feasted in great gladness. But some of those who came to keep the Passover had not time to properly cleanse and sanctify themselves, according to the Jewish law. So King Hezekiah prayed for these, saying, "The good Lord pardon everyone."

"And the Lord hearkened unto Hezekiah," the story says, "and healed the people."

"And all the congregation of Judah, with the priests and the Levites, and all the congregation that came out of Israel, and the strangers that came out of Israel, and that dwell in Judah, rejoiced."

So much did the good King Hezekiah do for his people at the beginning of his reign. Images were broken and altars to heathen gods were thrown down and broken before the people returned again to their homes.

Prepares for Siege
For their physical good, Hezekiah encouraged agriculture, and he also carried through a great engineering feat by cutting a tunnel under Ophel Hill from a spring east of Jerusalem outside the city walls, to the Pool of Siloam, which was at that time within the walls, so that the city had a water supply in case of siege. This was done when the king of Assyria, Sennacherib, came and threatened to fight against Jerusalem.

This same Sennacherib tried to turn the people against Hezekiah by telling them that the Lord God of Israel could not help them and they would be left to perish of hunger and thirst, for Hezekiah had broken the images and the altars, and that he, Sennacherib, would conquer the people of Hezekiah.

But the Lord listened to the prayers of Hezekiah and Isaiah, and sent an angel to "cut off the mighty men of valour" of the enemy and Sennacherib had to go home ashamed, and was killed by his own sons.

Today, as in those olden times, people forget God and what they owe him in love and worship. For these let us learn part of the twelfth chapter of Ecclesiastes, "Remember now thy creator in the days of thy youth, while the evil days come not, nor the years draw nigh, when thou shalt say, I have no pleasure in them."

Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Hezekiah, son of Ahaz, came to the temple at Jerusalem to observe the Passover. He had sent letters far and wide to all the people, inviting them to a great meeting in Jerusalem to observe the Passover so that God's wrath might be turned from them.

Some scoffed at the message, but many—a great congregation—came to Jerusalem, and they made sacrifices to the Lord and had a great feast for seven days, offering peace offerings.

Some who came to the Passover did not have time to cleanse themselves according to Jewish law, and for them King Hezekiah prayed God for pardon. (GOLDEN TEXT—Psalm 80:3.)

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon was "Man." Included among the Scriptural selections was: "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth. And God said, Let us make man in our image, after our likeness: and let them have dominion over the fish of the sea and over the fowl of the air, and over the cattle, and over all the earth, and over every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth" (Gen. 1: 1, 26).

The following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, was also included. "Man is not matter; he is not made up of brain, blood, bones, and other material elements. The Scriptures inform us that man is made in the image and likeness of God. Matter is not that likeness. The likeness of Spirit cannot be so unlike Spirit." (p. 475).

Today's rival claims in the European war:

GERMANY—High command reports siege of Warsaw started with bombing of bridges as Nazi forces move closer from three directions; German drive from south reportedly reaches Mszczonow, 25 miles from Warsaw while other armies approached within 28 miles on the north and northwest with Silesian moving up at greater distance from west and southwest; another drive, parallel to Slovakian border, seeking to cut off Polish forces between Lublin, to which the government fled, and Rumanian border; Pomorzanie (corridor) now being "mopped up;" action French front minimized.

ALLIES—French claim attack on Germany's west wall defenses forced diversion of 100,000 Nazi forces from Poland to main Siegfried line; French increasing pressure on the German forward positions in Saar region into big-scale battle; British military observers say the fact that Germans claim to have captured only 25,000 men and 126 artillery pieces in Poland shows Polish army still intact, although admittedly in precarious position; British navy and Royal Air Force continue submarine searches with indications method of spotting submarines more successful than officially claimed.

"TOM SAWYER, DETECTIVE" EMPIRE SATURDAY ATTRACTION, FOLLOWED BY DEAD END KIDS IN "HELL'S KITCHEN," ON SUNDAY

If you've made the newspaper comic strip acquaintance of Jane Arden, perhaps you'll want to hurry down to the Empire theatre tonight to see the screen version of "The Adventures of Jane Arden," before the bill which opened on Thursday closes.

The picture gives Rosella Towne her first starring role. A companion feature on the bill closing Friday night is "Pride of the West," another thriller for "Hopalong Cassidy," followers.

Dozens of Mark Twain's most lovable characters are seen in "Tom Sawyer, Detective," which will be shown at the Empire Saturday only.

To name a few there are Tom Sawyer, Huckleberry Finn, Aunt Sally Phelps, Uncle Silas, Jupiter Dunlap and Old Judge Tyler.

Tom and Huck solve a murder and save their preacher-uncle from the gallows.

Opening on Sunday for a two-day showing which is positively limited to the Sunday and Monday dates, says Manager Otto Schmitt is "Hell's Kitchen," featuring the now familiar "Dead End Kids" with Grant Mitchell.

clamation of limited emergency does not contemplate putting either the national defenses or the national economy of a war time basis.

Mr. Roosevelt emphasized in specific terms that every step he contemplates will be on a peace time basis. He said he does not contemplate any steps which would go beyond peace authorizations.

Mr. Roosevelt said it could be assumed that when—not if—he calls congress into special session he will ask it to repeal the mandatory embargo on shipment of arms to belligerents and little or nothing else.

Household Hint

A dash of curry powder helps the flavor of clear vegetable soup or meat broth. Add the powder just before taking the soup off the heat, or sprinkle a few grains atop each serving.

PEAR BUREAU SLOGAN IS: "KEEP FAMILY FRUIT BOWL FILLED"

of fresh pears with meats was made in photographing years fried with pork chops and sausages—two delicious uses of pears with meats.

A tie-in with some reciprocal publicity of California members, who push pears in their publicity, was one "still" showing the use of lemon juice on cut pears to prevent discoloration. This cooperation was also extended in another shot of a salad combining sections of grapefruit, oranges, together with pear segments; in the fruit bowl picture, and a fruit salad setting.

Reciprocal publicity was also given gelatin in a salad which used lime gelatin and pear sections in a flower pattern with maraschino cherries in the rounded halves of each pear, making a very colorful picture.

In line with past cooperation with cheese companies to push the use of pears with cheese, one photograph showed a tray which combined pears, cheese and crackers in an attractive arrangement.

One of the best-known methods of preparing fresh pears is to bake them, and a photograph was made of baked Bosc; also a photograph of a baked Anjou stuffed with mince-meat, with creamed cheese melting down over the top. A tie-in was made with marshmallows in keeping with cooperation previously extended, by showing a shot of the dietitian basting baked pears with marshmallow sauce.

In line with mutual promotion, glass baking dishes were used in the shots of pear pie and baked dishes, in order to solicit further support from a well-known glass manufacturer.

The last shot was an animated Bosc and Anjou pear, painted in cartoon fashion and with the pear bureau slogan, "All Good Things Come in Pears," as a part of the picture.

Black and white photographs for newspaper use will be made from some of the colored slides.
